

Dashboards for Salesforce Users

Think of Corda when you need Business Performance Dashboards using your data in Salesforce and your other enterprise systems.

If you use Salesforce with other applications to run your business, you know how difficult it can be to pull data together from different systems for reports, business reviews, or dashboards. Corda has the answer with our CenterView dashboard solution. We can assemble data from all of your systems and create dashboards for you in no time at all.

Corda's technology is powerful. We can pull forecast information from Salesforce and compare it to budget information from your financial application like Oracle Financials or SAP. We can use key sales performance indicators from Salesforce like lead activity or opportunity conversions and compare to your Employee Development systems like Saba or SuccessFactors. Our technology pulls data directly from all sources in your organization and gets you the business instrumentation you need.

Corda, an AppExchange Certified Partner

Corda is an AppExchange Certified Partner, which means that you can trust us when it comes to accessing your Salesforce data. Our solutions only read data from Salesforce, so you don't have to worry about data integrity or compromising important information. We also provide hosting services if you want a turnkey implementation.
